SOUTHWEST WASHINGTON

Where you can play golf in Southwest Washington

SW Washington is an area with a variety of golf courses, including Ocean Shores Golf Course (right). For more about the courses of SW Washington see inside this section.

It's not difficult to find most of the golf courses in SW Wash.

You don't have to venture far off the main highways to find some great golf courses to play in Southwest Washington. All are easy to find (see map on pg 7) and all are worth the drive.

Taking of tour of SW Washington

Golf in Southwest Washington offers a vast variety of courses to play, from places like the Home Course in DuPont (top) to Tri Mountain along I-5 in Ridgefield (left) to Tumwater Golf Course (lower left) and Lewis River Golf Course in Woodland (bottom right), all are worth exploring and well worth the drive.

With some of the Pacific Northwest's top public courses located in Southwest Washington, it's definitely worth taking a golf trip south of the Seattle/Tacoma metro area. Finding good golf is never a problem, many are just a short drive from the I-5 freeway.

Join Inside Golf this month as we take you on a tour of Southwest Washington to get a closer look at the courses you will find there.

Home Course offers a new way to stay and play in DuPont

There are certain places that come to mind when you think of stay and play deals. Throw The Home Course into that mix now. The Home Course, owned and operated by both the WSGA and the PPGA in DuPont, Wash. has partnered with several hotels.

The Hampton Inn, Home 2 Suites, Liberty Inn, Fairfield Inn and FairBridge Inn and Suites are working with the course on a stay and play package deal from May 1 through July 31, where you book a room through the hotel links and you will get two free rounds and cart.

The Home Course opened in 2007 and been the home for some top championships including the U.S. Amateur and U.S. Women's Public Links.

The course recently added the Golf House Grill and a new pro shop is expected to break ground in May. The Home Course was ranked as the No. 2 public golf course in Washington in 2008 by GolfWeek Magazine. For more information call 866.964.0520 or see www.thehomecourse.com.

I-5 Golf: Plenty of places to choose from

If you find yourself planning a trip up or down Interstate-5 through Southwest Washington, you might also want to plan on putting your golf clubs in the car.

From Olympia on south to Vancouver, there are plenty of choices when it comes to playing golf right off I-5. Most of the courses sit within minutes of the freeway and if you looking for golf, they are all worth the trip.

Starting from the north, PPGA's Home Course sits just minutes off the freeway in the town of DuPont. One exit and a couple of turns puts you in the parking lot of one of the most popular courses in the Northwest. The Home Course was a host for the 2010 U.S. Amateur and is frequently used for PPGA championships.

Eagle's Pride Golf Course at Fort Lewis, which is visible from the freeway, features 27 holes and continues to be a popular course with military as well as non-military golfers.

The Lacey-Olympia area has a couple of courses less than five minutes off the freeway in the Golf Club at Hawk's Prairie. You can't go wrong with the Links Course or the Woodlands Course. Both are extremely challenging and the conditioning is good.

A couple of miles to the south lies Tumwater Valley, a course you can see just south of the old Olympia Brewery. A couple of quick turns off the freeway gets you there. This popular course has hosted some of the top amateur events in the Pacific Northwest and you can virtually see the course as you head north or south on I-5.

"We're lucky because we're in such a great location," said Russ Olsen of Tumwater Valley Golf Course. "Sitting right off the freeway, people don't have to go searching for us up and down side roads. Once you get off the freeway, there we are."

In Chehalis, Riverside Golf Course is so close to the freeway, you could probably reach it with a driver. It's difficult to see from the freeway but is less than three minutes from the off-ramp. There is golf and the chance for golfers with RV's to stay a few nights.

In the Kelso/Longview area, it takes a little work to get to Three Rivers and Mint Valley, but both are good public tracks and a short drive off Interstate-5. Three Rivers was a course that was built after the flooding from the eruption of Mount St. Helens. The river dredging provided the base for the golf course. A little further south in Woodland, Lewis River is about a 10-minute drive off the freeway, but with it's park-like setting, and top quality golf, it's worth the extra time to get to the course and tee it up. Their banquet setup next to the Lewis River is spectacular.

The course that gets the most exposure from being near Interstate-5 is Tri Mountain in Ridgefield, just north of Vancouver. From the course can see the namesake mountains - Mt. St. Helens, Mt. Adams and Mt. Hood - hence the name, Tri Mountain. As you drive along the I-5 freeway, you can see almost the entire Tri Mountain course. One unique feature is the water driving range -not much roll on the balls but it's fun to see them splash.

The Golf Club at Hawk's Prairie offers two distinctly different courses, the Woodlands and The Links Course (above), both are great courses to play.

The tour of SW Washington

As you travel up and down the I-5 corridor you will find plenty of golf along the way

Southwest Washington is an area that stretches from the state capitol in Olympia to just east of Vancouver to the Washington Coast. Sightseeing, fishing, hiking, camping . . . are all a part of the area's vast landscape. Golf options range from 9 and 18-hole public golf courses, to some of the best country clubs you will find in the Pacific Northwest.

Take a look at what the area has:

Salish Cliffs Golf Club

Salish Cliffs opened for play in 2011 as part of the Squaxin Island Indian Tribe's Little Creek Casino and was an award winner instantly. The Gene Bates-designed layout features rolling terrain, plenty of water and sand and they were named one of the top new courses to open for play in 2011 by GolfWeek being ranked eighth. The course also is ranked fourth in the state of Washington by GolfWeek on the Best You Can Play list. Salish Cliffs is also the first golf course to be awarded a "salmon safe" designation.

A practice range with multiple targets only adds to the fun before or after a round of golf that can make your day and round complete at Salish Cliffs.

Salish Cliffs offers and upscale full hookup RV parking area next to the casino. There are 44 spaces with full hookups. There are also stay & play options for hotel guests.

Tumwater Valley Golf Course

Tumwater Valley Golf Course has several unique features that keep golfers coming back – like the second and 17th holes, both par-3 holes. The second and 17th are unique in that they both have two greens. One green plays much shorter than the other, giving both the low and high handicap players different choices from the tee box.

There are also two different sets of tees to choose from. Tumwater's length is another challenge. The course stretches to nearly 7,200 yards from the tips, and when the wind blows, it plays longer. A new management team has been put in place, led by Russ Olsen and operations manager Dave Nickerson. Play is up after the changes and conditions are much improved leading the way to an increase in rounds at the course.

Golf Club at Hawk's Prairie

The Golf Club at Hawk's Prairie offers two distinctly different courses - the Woodlands Course and the Links course. As you might expect, the Woodlands presents tree-lined fairways and the Links, while more open, has its share of tree-lined fairways too. And if you want play a doubleheader, they have special deals.

As part of the Oki Golf umbrella, there are many ways to save and play the Hawks Prairie courses. A variety of membership plans and options can be found on their website: www.okigolf.com.

Salish Cliffs Golf Club is part of the Little Creek Resort, owned by the Squaxin Island tribe.

Camas Meadows attracts kids; Skamania Lodge golf and more

The Oki Golf Players Card has been the mainstay of Oki Golf. The cards are good for any of the six public courses owned by Oki Golf. Golfers can choose from six different options, ranging from $49 to $369.

The course has a program for every type of golfer and the Club Pass has nearly 1,000 players.

As of January 1, 2019, the Oki Group no longer manages Echo Falls.

Camas Meadows Golf Club

Located just minutes from Portland, Oregon's PDX airport, Camas Meadows is placed adjacent to Lacamas Lake in Camas, Washington.

While the natural habitat initially captures your attention the constant investment in the course has been the goal for several years. The course ranges in yardage from over 6,600 yards to 3,103 yards.

"We built a family set of tees to make golf more fun and manageable for our beginners and youth golfers and they are even rated for handicapping," says Chris Garrison, PGA General Manager.

Through the Washington Youth Golf Academy at Camas Meadows, the course reaches over 14,000 youths across three school districts at no cost to the schools. In addition, the course has been recognized by the PNW PGA for its adult development programs.

Tri Mountain Golf Course

The course that gets the most exposure from being near Interstate-5 is Tri Mountain in Ridgefield, just north of Vancouver. You can see virtually the entire course as well as Mt. St. Helens, Mt. Adams and Mt. Hood – hence the name, Tri Mountain. The course turned 20 years old in 2014.

And don't forget to hit balls into the watery driving range where you actually don't get penalized for hitting balls into a lake.

The course is a links-style layout where you can see everything that is in front of you. The Bill Robinson-designed course offers plenty of sand and water to keep you focused. The course prides itself in being in pristine condition year round. The banquet room can handle up to 200 people for tournaments and special occasions.

Skamania Lodge

Skamania Lodge located in Stevenson, Wash., just above the Columbia River has terrific views of the Gorge. The resort has changed hands a few times over the years and is now part of the Destination Hotel chain. The 18-hole golf course winds through tall trees and provides great views of the Columbia River. A few years ago the resort reversed the nines on the course so now the 18th hole finishes near the lodge. There is plenty of things to do at the resort including a zip line, which features seven different lines, one that is 1,000 feet long that takes you on a trip through the tall Douglas Firs around the resort. The resort also hosted a Golf Channel Amateur Tour event as well as events with the Oregon Golf Association. There are discounts for lodge guests but the course is open for public play for about $15 more, carts are included in the green fees. The Waterleaf Spa at the lodge comes complete with all the treatments you will ever need.

The Home Course

The Home Course has made headlines, not only for being one of the top courses in the Pacific Northwest but for also playing host to the qualifying rounds at the United States Amateur in 2010. The course held two qualifying rounds before the golfers headed to Chambers Bay for the match play part of the tournament. In 2014, the course hosted the final USGA Women's Public Links.

The Home Course is a treat with superb conditions, some great views of the Puget Sound along the way and some challenging holes. If you want Tri Mountain Golf Course gets its name from Mt. St. Helens, Mt. Adams and Mt. Hood.

Skamania Lodge Resort's golf course is a par-70 tucked away in a wooded setting.

Relax and enjoy our patio in an unmatched setting overlooking the Lewis River and the golf course.

Ocean Shores is a coastal treat; Riverside's Rooftop bar is a hit a real golf challenge, step back to the back tees called the Dynamite Tees and see what golf is like from 7,300-yards plus as you make your way around the 18 holes.

Riverside Golf Course

Riverside Golf Course in Chehalis has long been a popular stop for travelers on Interstate-5. Improvements have made the course even better, including faster greens, improved conditioning, new RV parking and a new restaurant called the Riverside Bistro with a rooftop bar. If it's been a while since you played here, the nines were reversed a while back, allowing the 18th hole to finish at the clubhouse.

The course has been voted as the top-ranked course in South Sound by readers of the local Chehalis newspaper. New ownership took over the course in 2009 and changes have been made to the course and clubhouse, including new sand in the bunkers and an expanded pond from the first to the ninth holes at the golf course.

Lake Cushman Golf Course

Lake Cushman Golf Course sits on the edge of the Olympic National Park, high above the Hood Canal community of Hoodport. In a park-like setting, this well maintained 9 hole course is a must play when traveling along Highway 101. Walk or ride, your choice, complete with driving range, practice green and pro-shop. A popular choice for local tournaments and an easy drive from Shelton, Belfair & Olympia. It's a great place to get away from the city and traffic congestion.

Ocean Shores Golf Course

Ocean Shores for years has been a must-stop for tourists traveling to the coast. Some of the best lodging and accommodations on Washington's Coast can be found in this resort town. There is unique shopping and recreational attractions – like go-karts, mopeds, horseback riding and the opportunity to drive your car on the beach. The golf course is user friendly and remains one of the strong attractions for the peninsula town. The front and back nine are quite different; one is a links-style while the other plays through trees.

Airport Golf Center

When Jeff Olive bought the Airport Golf in Tumwater in 1999, he set about improving all facets of the facility, from the golf course condition, to fixing the driving range nets and adding new mats and balls, even upgrading the pro shop including landscaping the entrance.

Golf is still at the center of the business but it also includes state-of-the-art batting cages. Other amenities include onsite club repair, Toptracer and a Tap Room with local flavors of beer along with various selections of bar food.

Highland Golf Course

The Highland Golf Course in Cosmopolis is the oldest golf course in Grays Harbor County. What started out as a nine-hole course in 1931 became 18 holes with the addition of the new front nine, built in the early 1990s. The 18-hole "Highland" course features 6,112 yards of golf from the longest tees for a par of 70. The course rating is 68.1 and it has a slope rating of 111. Designed by William Overdorf, the Highland 9-hole golf course opened in 1931.

Three Rivers, Mint Valley

In the Kelso area, it takes a little work to get to Three Rivers and Mint Valley, but both are 18 holes and good public tracks just a short drive off Interstate-5. Three Rivers was built on a base of material deposited in the Cowlitz River by the 1980 eruption of Mt. St. Helens and removed by dredging. This porous combination of ash, dust, sand and silt drains well in wet weather.

Mint Valley has a covered range and a 6-hole par 3 pitch and putt course.

Lewis River Golf Course

Lewis River Golf Course has endured a lot in its 50+ years of existence. In 1980 the summer season was lost when Mt. St. Helens blew and the course was in the red zone (a 25-mile zone around the mountain that prohibited all recreational activities), a 200-year flood in 1996 wiped out a large portion of the back nine, a fire destroyed the clubhouse in 2000, and since 2008, like all of golf, Lewis River has been dealing with the results of the great recession. What has stayed constant through the years is the Stading family's ownership of the facility since the course first opened in 1967. They have kept their pledge for continuous improvements and to provide the best overall recreation experience in SW Washington.

Lewis River's team is constantly striving to have a product that appeals to both golfers and the broader general public. Located on nearly a mile of Lewis River frontage, the course features tree-lined fairways and some of the finest greens in the Northwest. Accuracy is required in order to score well here.

The clubhouse is a rustic masterpiece that was built in 2001 and is unmatched for weddings, event gatherings, and golf tournaments. David Putney, Head Golf Professional said, "There is no comparable venue in SW Washington or Portland that has a more beautiful backdrop for post round activities". The North Fork Grille and outside patio overlook the Lewis River providing an incredibly scenic and relaxing setting that is truly unique and awe-inspiring. Lewis River's pro-shop staff takes great pride in providing superior customer service. Lewis River Golf Course has a country club feel for the public player and is consistently ranked as a "best buy" among visitors and regular players.

Oaksridge Golf Course

Oaksridge Golf Course sits just off Highway 12 in Elma and is visible from the freeway. The 18-hole track measures 5,643 yards and is a local favorite after opening in 1934. The course is relatively level so it makes a perfect walking course. Just be advised, the prevailing winds can lengthen it considerably. The owners have put in endless hours to keep the course in good shape—and their work has paid off.

Tahoma Valley Golf Course

Tahoma Valley Golf Club (formerly Nisqually Golf Club) in Yelm has long been known for being a dry course. There are spectacular views of Mount Rainier for every hole. The rural setting allows golfers to enjoy their round peacefully. The nines were reversed a few years ago.

Capitol City Golf Club

In Washington's wet climate golf courses are often remembered for being wet or dry. Built on a past gravel pit in 1962, Capitol City Golf Club has excellent drainage and has enjoyed the reputation of being one of the driest courses in western Washington. But it's more than just a dry course, it has tree-lined fairways and is well bunkered with well-maintained greens. It plays to 6,578 yards from the back tees with an index of 71.6 and slope of 128.

Their popular Fire Creek Grill & Ale House was established in 2003 and recently held a grand opening after a complete remodel.

Elk Ridge Golf Course

You won't find a more beautiful and rewarding golf experience in the Southwest Washington area. Elk Ridge Golf Course at Carson Hot Springs boasts scenic views from almost every hole along with large, undulating greens and narrow fairways with tall grasses in true links fashion.

A challenging course that demands accuracy, it features a first class practice facility that is included with your greens fees. Only a 45-minute drive from the Portland/Vancouver Metro area.

Eagle's Pride

Eagle's Pride Golf Course at Fort Lewis has 27 holes that sit on 431 acres of secluded property. The course is surrounded by woodland, without houses bordering the fairways, it will allow for a peaceful experience on the course. Complementing the course, golfers have a year-round practice facility that features 10 covered hitting areas with light and heat. The range has grass landing area which offers real ball performance feedback. It is open to the public and was voted among the top 10 military courses in the U.S. The course has a sister course call Whispering Firs which is on McChord Air Force Base. The course is 18 holes and 6,646 yards from the back tee with a rating of 71.8 and slope of 122. Play is allowed for active and retired military and their family. Guests are also allowed, but keep in mind, the base is a closed facility and you must go through the guard gate to enter.

The Cedars on Salmon Creek

Located in Brush Prairie, less than 30 minutes north of Portland, The Cedars on Salmon Creek is an 18-hole, par 68 course that plays to 5,616 yards from the Blue Tees. The club is excited to showcase their newly designed, 18 hole layout that is challenging yet attainable. "With the slightly shorter layout, we feel that Cedars is a great host facility for golf tournaments and daily rounds for golfers of all skill levels." Says Head Pro Joe Cain.

Cedars provides two short game practice areas to the South of the clubhouse, allowing shots up to 60 yards. The seasoned greens are undulating and true, providing a challenge for all skill levels. The tree-lined fairways along with water throughout the course provides a consistent, yet approachable defense. The nature and beauty of the golf course gives it character and feel like no other local facility.

There is a full-service restaurant and bar with banquet facilities showcasing a popular patio setting. Joe Cain, along with Assistant Pro Carver Vukanovich are Callaway Certified Club Fitters and offer individual and group lessons.

For a place to play on the way to the Washington Coast, Oaksridge in Elma is the place.

Lewis River Golf Course in Woodland offers an 18-hole golf treat like a walk through a park.

Indian Summer Golf & CC

Indian Summer Golf and Country Club is perhaps the best-known club in Olympia and is one of the four country clubs in Southwest Washington. Designed by Peter Thompson, the course continually makes the list of the top golf courses.

One of the favorite layouts among the Oki Golf properties for its challenging design and year round playability. It was voted Best of the Nike tour (now Web.com tour) by the players when they came through in 1997.

Other clubs to check out

- Olympia Country and Golf Club is located along Budd Inlet with sweeping views of south Puget Sound and plays just over 6,000 yards but features a tight and hilly layout.

- Grays Harbor Country Club in Central Park is a nine-hole layout and is one of the oldest clubs in the Northwest having opened for play in 1912. Public play is allowed on a limited bases on Fridays after 1pm and tee times must be reserved in advance. The driving range and putting green are open to the public as well. Brian Davis is the head professional, he was formerly at Bay Shore Golf Course, which is now closed.

- Longview Country Club isn't long, playing to 6,215 yards and par 70, it opened three new holes 1996. The club was founded in 1925 and opened nine holes for play in 1927. A second nine was added in 1958, completing the 18-hole course. The course plays to a rating of 71.0 with a slope of 129 from the back tees. There are 4 sets of tees. Tree-lined fairways with well-maintained.

Note: Willapa Harbor golf course in Raymond, one of the oldest nine-hole courses in the Pacific Northwest has closed.
